

Course Learning Objectives:

The purpose of this annual meeting is to provide contemporary hematology/oncology education to nurses, advance practice nurses, pharmacists, physician assistants and other healthcare providers.

Following the meeting, participants should be better able to:

- Discuss current treatment strategies for patients with lung cancer or palliative care needs.
- Evaluate the use of new medications and medical marijuana in the hematology and oncology practice.
- Identify controversies in care with the use of granulocyte colony-stimulating factors (G-CSF) in patients with cancer.
